

RURAL HEALTH ROUND-UP REPORT

Period ending: 16 April 2020

- WORLD FIRST RAPID COVID19 TESTING TO PROTECT ABORIGINAL AND TORRES STRAIT ISLANDER COMMUNITIES

Minister for Health, Greg Hunt, says the Australian Government is investing $3.3 million to establish a rapid coronavirus (COVID-19) Remote Point of Care Testing Program for remote and rural Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander communities. Under the program, people will benefit from testing times being cut to around 45 minutes. This will be a game-changing improvement for areas such as the Kimberley where receiving a test result can currently take up to 10 days. Once fully rolled out, there will be 83 testing sites in place across Indigenous communities most at risk, and most in need. The sites are being carefully selected, in partnership with key stakeholders including services and state and territory authorities, to ensure there is coverage across remote Australia. See attachment rapid testing.

- $3 MILLION TO BOOST THE NATIONAL COORDINATED COVID-19 RESEARCH RESPONSE

The Australian Government will provide a further $3 million to support frontline health workers with training and information which will support the treatment of patients with coronavirus. $1 million in funding from the Medical Research Future Fund (MRFF) will transform the treatment and management of patients with severe coronavirus, delivering better patient outcomes. The CovED initiative involves using artificial intelligence to support frontline health workers using CT scans to quickly and more accurately diagnose the severity of coronavirus in patients who are having difficulty breathing. This project will be delivered through a consortium led by DetectED-X (a University of Sydney start-up) and the coronavirus Image Biobank, with support from iCoreLab and a large consortium of University of Sydney and clinical experts. See attachment Hunt.

- REGIONAL COVID-19 RESPIRATORY CLINIC OPENS IN WAGGA WAGGA

The first rural GP-led COVID-19 respiratory clinic in New South Wales officially opened today at Wagga Wagga's Glenrock Country Practice. Deputy Prime Minister, Minister for Infrastructure, Transport and Regional Development and Federal Member for Riverina Michael McCormack said the new respiratory clinic, assembled at Dr Ayman Shenouda's practice, was part of the Australian Government's $2.4 billion health package to respond to the COVID-19 outbreak. "Wagga Wagga is a health hub for the Riverina and the Murrumbidgee Valley with more than 250,000 people relying on the regional city's health services and medical professionals," Mr McCormack said. See attachment Wagga.
