

EARN WHILE YOU LEARN BY UNDERTAKING A SCHOOL-BASED TRAINEESHIP IN THE HEALTH SECTOR

Find out more about a career in health and make a difference!

Indigenous Allied Health Australia (IAHA) is leading the National Aboriginal & Torres Strait Islander Health Academy program (IAHA National Academy) with the support of our partners. The program is designed to create opportunities for Aboriginal & Torres Strait Islander students in Year 10 to 12, just like you, considering a career in health in your region by completing a School-Based Traineeship.

IAHA is a national member-based Aboriginal & Torres Strait Islander organisation that has developed the culturally centred program to support high school students in gaining their educational qualifications.

The paid Traineeship spans over two years, providing you with on-the-job experience along with the ability to gain a Certificate III qualification in Allied Health Assistance. You will receive credits towards your Year 12 Higher School Certificate. We will help you grow your confidence, build on your work-readiness and employability skills for the health sector.

We welcome your interest and would love to talk to you more about joining the IAHA National Academy.
