About IAHA

Indigenous Allied Health Australia (IAHA) is a community controlled and member-based Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander allied health organisation. IAHA leads nationally in Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander workforce development and support, in health and related sectors, to improve the holistic health and wellbeing of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples, families and communities.

IAHA's success in providing and facilitating professional development opportunities such as our National Conference, is through creating safe space for leadership growth, networking, connectedness and providing a platform for voices to be heard, feel safe to share knowledges, perspectives and aspirations with each other. Internationally, IAHA is leading global First Nations workforce development creating a collective space for First Nations sharing, relationships and learning.

IAHA's vision and success providing and facilitating cultural, personal and professional development opportunities such as our National Conference for our membership, creating safe space for leadership growth, networking, and providing a platform for their voices to be heard, feel safe to share knowledges, perspectives and aspirations with each other. Internationally, IAHA is leading global First Nations workforce development creating space for First Nations sharing, relationships and connectedness.

You are invited to be a sponsor at the 2025 IAHA National Conference and events that will take place from 24-26 November 2025 on the sovereign lands of the Kabi Kabi peoples, the Sunshine Coast.

Over the past 15 years, IAHA has held a series of events providing culturally safe and responsive professional development for our members, allies and delegates. These events, attended by over 4,000 delegates, have included national conferences and forums, international Indigenous forums, student challenges, leadership and allyship workshops.

The 2025 IAHA National Conference celebrates the diversity of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples and cultures, the diversity of our membership, as well as interdisciplinary actions within the allied health sector. IAHA recognises that the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander allied health workforce has a critical role in supporting culturally responsive, holistic health and wellbeing where individuals, families and communities can determine and control their own futures.

2025 IAHA National Conference delegates will experience:

- Professional development that will challenge them both personally and professionally
- Networking opportunities with like-minded people within a culturally diverse and safe space
- Opportunities for growth, learning and connection
- A Gala celebration of excellence in the Indigenous allied health sector
- Enriching cultural experiences and sharing
- Thought provoking sessions focusing on eliminating racism

Who Will Attend?

IAHA National Conferences and events are leading professional development opportunities for the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander health workforce and students, the broader workforce, NGO's and Nation builders, health service providers, policy makers, academics and corporates. It is anticipated that the 2025 events will be attended by over 400 delegates including:

- Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander allied health workforce and students across a broad range of health and wellbeing professions
- The broader Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander health workforce, for example Aboriginal Health Practitioners, nurses, doctors and others.
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander health services and organisations
- Academic and clinical staff teaching allied health-related courses and programs nationally
- Researchers
- Policymakers
- Program managers
- Health service providers
- Workforce organisations and professional associations
- Corporate supporters committed to Closing the Gap
- Non Indigenous allied health workforce
- Non Indigenous health and related sector allies
- International First Nations Stakeholders

Benefits of Sponsorship

Delegates will be engaged via a strategic campaign that capitalises on IAHA's industry partnerships nationally, as well as a targeted communications campaign involving print and online advertising through Indigenous and health-related publications, websites, and social media. As part of a comprehensive and effective marketing plan, sponsorship can provide many positive results. Benefits include:

- Exposure to a national audience within the allied health and Indigenous health spaces
- Recognition through acknowledgement and demonstration of your support for culturally responsive partnerships
- Promotion of your organisation's services, opportunities and/or products
- Opportunity to raise your company profile amongst a valuable target audience during this conference
- Expansion of relationships and extend your networks with government, business and Indigenous health
- Learning first-hand about the emerging Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander allied health workforce
- Inclusion in targeted marketing campaigns
- Increase attraction of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander workforce, partners and/or client base
- Building knowledge of culturally safe and responsive action

Location

The 2025 IAHA National Conference will be held on the traditional lands of the Kabi Kabi people of the beautiful Sunshine Coast. Kabi Kabi lands stretch from the eastern part of the coastal ranges including the volcanic Glasshouse Mountains and the great Mary River valley which flows from the Conondale Ranges to the sea near Maryborough.

The Sunshine Coast is made up of more than 100km of sparkling coastline. Stretching from the coastal city of Caloundra, near Brisbane, to the Great Sandy National Park in the north, the Sunshine Coast is home to pretty villages, renowned surf spots and spectacular rural hinterland.

Maroochydore is the capital of the region but is pleasingly far from being a bustling city. With its funky cafes, multicultural cuisine and thriving live music scene.

Venue

The venue for the 2025 IAHA National Conference is the Novotel Twin Waters Resort located on the Sunshine Coast, Queensland. The resort is set in tropical gardens surrounding a central private lagoon with its own sandy beaches. The Novotel offers an extensive range of activities including complimentary water sports, an outdoor heated swimming pool and spa and a gym.

You can view the Novotel Twin Waters accommodation on the website - <https://www.novotelsunshinecoast.com.au/>

Sponsorship Opportunities

To support a productive exchange of individual, community and organisational perspectives, IAHA strives to maximise participation with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people from around Australia as National Conference speakers, facilitators, delegates and performers. It is towards this end that a significant proportion of the financial sponsorship will be directed.

The National Conference will provide a unique opportunity for sponsors to communicate with and promote their organisation within the health and related sectors. We rely on a small group of supporters at different levels. All supporting organisations will be promoted via a range of initiatives reflecting their level of support for this event.

IAHA has a demonstrated track record of hosting successful and relevant national and international events over the past thirteen years which positively profile our supporters and partners. As a national Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander not-for-profit organisation, all support is targeted directly to the event and participation of delegates in celebrating the achievements and innovation in allied health.

The National Conference and events will be promoted through various sectors, including academic, Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander health services, allied health and other health professional associations, governments, community organisations, and allied health stakeholders.

A range of sponsorship opportunities is listed on the following pages for consideration, however, specific or tailored packages can be negotiated. The 2025 IAHA National Conference and events provide many opportunities for sponsorship participation and are in no way limited. We would welcome the opportunity to discuss your marketing objectives and any further ideas you may have on individual sponsorship.

OF PARTICIPANTS
SURVEYED AGREED THAT THE 2024 IAHA NATIONAL CONFERENCE:

- was strengths based and action orientated
- provided opportunities to build and strengthen relationships and to experience national networking opportunities
- Strengthened their understanding of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander health and wellbeing
- Provided a culturally safe environment to learn and be actively involved

Naming our Packages

Show your support for our organisation and our members by purchasing a sponsorship opportunity for the 2025 IAHA National Conference.

In recognition of Country, where our IAHA head office is based, we honour local cultures, therefore our packages take language into the heart of what we do.

In Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander cultures we do not see a hierarchy when we look at and think about our animals, plants or birds, as they are equal with us, as we all play a role in our collective ecosystem with and for our peoples and our generations to come.

These animals and birds provide us with our Totems, food and clothing and have supported our survival for tens of thousands of years. They are a respected integral part of our lives.

We have chosen animals and birds that are important to our people to represent our sponsorship packages. These packages use the language of the Ngambri (Kamberri) Walgalu peoples whose lands our Head Office is situated on.
